

WOMEN EDUCATION LEADERS IN VIRGINIA

www.welv.org

Virginia Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development Annual Conference

VASCD 2017 ANNUAL CONFERENCE

WELV Presentation

Resonant Leadership: “Navigating the C’s of Change”

November 30, 2017 1:15-2:30 Room F

Combining two influential books on leadership, a panel of women leaders will consider the concepts presented in Becoming a Resonant Leader and Lead Like a Pirate: Make School Amazing for Your Staff and Students.

Presentation and Panel

Resonant Leadership: “Navigating the C’s of Change”

Panelists

Kim Evans, Ed.D.	Assistant Superintendent Hopewell City Public Schools President-Elect, WELV
Taneshia Rachal, Ed. D.	Principal James Monroe High School Secretary, WELV
Linda Reviea, Ed.D.	Former Superintendent Staunton City Schools President, WELV
Sarah Tanner- Anderson, Ed.D.	Assistant Professor, Leadership Longwood University Higher Education Representative, WELV

Moderator:

Elaine Fogliani, Ph.D.	Executive Director, WELV Educational Planner/Client Relations Crabtree, Rohrbaugh & Associates, Architects
------------------------	--

Session Agenda

1:15-1:45	Overview of Resonant Leadership: “Navigating the C’s of Change”
1:45-2:15	Panelists will respond to questions outlined below.
2:15-2:30	Questions and comments from the participants

Panelists will respond to the questions on the back page:

1. What proposition or research presented in the book, Resonant Leader, most impacted you and caused you to reflect on your experience as a leader?
2. What proposition or research presented in the book, Lead Like A Pirate, most impacted you and caused you to reflect on your experience as a leader?
3. When you think of the characteristics of a “Resonant Leader”, what do you see as your strengths? What are areas where you would like to improve?
4. The last chapters of Lead Like A Pirate are full of practical suggestions for becoming a “Pirate Leader.” Describe one of your favorite suggestions and share why this idea was innovative, effective, or one that is a “must do” for professional practitioners.